Margo Adams Larsen, PhD TRAINING & LEADERSHIP CONSULTANT

Margo Adams Larsen is a training and leadership consultant, specializing in professional development, creative adult instruction, and organizational program implementation. As a licensed psychologist in North Dakota, she served for many years on the licensure board, several as President, and brings practical regulatory experience to The Atkinson Firm team. Dr. Adams Larsen provides consultation services to individuals interested in developing leadership skills as well as to groups and organizations focused on training current and future leaders. With special knowledge in the practical day to day regulatory board functioning, she is able to tailor creative and engaging experiences in training that focus on the foundations of regulation as well as governance and rising up leaders. As an experienced grant writer, reviewer, and awards recipient, she offers consultation in all aspects of grantsmanship. Dr. Adams Larsen presents nationally on varied topics from inter-jurisdictional practice, tele-psychology, technology related to practice, ethics, regulatory factors, as well as leadership and motivational workshops.

"I enjoy collaboration with minds focused on the betterment of tomorrow – John Quincy Adams said it best 'If your actions inspire others to dream more, learn more, do more, and become more... You are a leader.'"
